Looking Over the Water. The World's Real Ocean. Where's the $1,200 Man? Alaska, Champion Bargain.

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

SAN SIMEON, Cal., Jan. 10.—This spot on the edge of the Pacific Ocean supplies the texts for sermons, or philosophical musing—especially at four in the morning, with the white line of the surf just visible in moonlight.

You see only rolling breakers and gray water beyond, but you know of things that you cannot see.

Asia is across the water, and Ceylon pearlfishers are going 'all naked to the hungry shark'; old temples of India tangled in the jungle; 400,000,000 patient Chinese bearing their burdens; 60,000,000 clever Japanese ruling their neighbors, because they borrow knowledge; Koreans and Filipinos crying for independence, that they won't get, because they are not ready for it; sacred monkeys, around a Hindu temple; sacred snakes, worshipped in a Chinese temple, and yellow gold, the important power everywhere.

To the south shines a gigantic planet, with its own little "ring" of mist, defying the greater light and bigger ring of the moon. More important, to men in their boats, is the little San Simeon lighthouse, flashing its intermittent light on a rocky point to the north.

That light shines over its path of water, lights and warns of rocks close by. Such are the wisdom and science of man, lighting our way in this little corner of space, which is the limit of our knowing and thinking.

Those that live along the little Eastern ocean should come here, see the world's real ocean and know for themselves how hard it is for a human mind to think across interstellar space to our nearest star neighbor.

With the rising of the sun comes Steve of San Luis Obispo, bringing the latest edition of the Seattle POST-INTELLIGENCER, and that newspaper, with news of Alaska, in big letters, reminds you of interesting and profitable things too far away.

From the Seattle P. I. you learn that it is hard to make a mistake when you buy on this continent. Seward bought Alaska from Russia for eight million dollars. The purchase was really engineered as a plausible way to hand American money to certain Russians that needed it. "Seward's folly," that purchase was called. Since this country has owned it, Alaska has sent us $366,000,000 in gold and $110,000,

HORNSBY MAY NOT PLAY FOR BRAVES

'RAJAH' WANTS 2-YEAR CONTRACT TO 'PROTECT HIM' WITH BOSTON CLUB

St. Louis, Jan. 11.—Second Baseman Rogers Hornsby, traded to the Boston Braves yesterday for Outfielder Jimmy Welsh and Catcher Francis Hogan, will not play for Boston unless he is given a term contract for two years more, it was said today.

Hornsby insisted, it was said, that he should have a two-year contract before he would consent to comply with his contract request there might be trouble between him and his new owners.

"My contract signed with the Giants has a year to run," said Hornsby. "That legal note protection than that, and shall ask the Boston management for a form confirmed for at least two more years. WILBUR ASKS 71 NEW SHIPS TO DEFEND U. S.

Washington, Jan. 11 (A.P.)—Stressing his own belief that "America needs a first-class navy," Secretary Wilbur placed today before the House Naval Committee both his personal reasons and those of the Navy General Board for asking Congress to authorize a $725,000,000 new warship construction program.

"In the preparation of this program the General Board has primarily considered the need of this government for its naval defense," he said. "It is true that in determining this need the General Board at all times has taken into consideration the condition of other navies and their construction and replacement programs, so far as they are known to us.

"Future wars must be fought largely by vessels already completed at the beginning of the war. Great Britain announced at the Geneva conference that she needed about 600,000 tons of vessels of the cruiser class.

"Our original proposal at Geneva was for cruiser tonnage of between 250,000 and 300,000 tons, a tonnage less than we felt necessary for our fleet. We were willing to accept the hazard of building less tonnage

PAY RAISES FOR STATE OFFICIALS PRESENTED

The issue of salary increases for State officials and employes was placed before the Legislature again today.

A bill calling for a $10,000 increase in the Governor's salary, a $7,000 increase in the salary of the Lieutenant-Governor and pay raises for judges and heads of departments was filed by Registrar Frank A. Goodwin as chairman of the Legislative committee of the Commonwealth Service Association, the organization of State employes.

Dissatisfaction with the reclassification of employes announced last year, and with the pay increases already granted was seen in the further announcement by Goodwin that the association would file in a day or two a salary schedule similar to the bill passed last year by the Legislature and vetoed by the Governor, affecting all State employes ex-

DENIED DEATH CHAIR FINERY

RUTH SNYDER

Last hope of a stay of execution was dashed when Governor Al Smith refused to interfere in the executions of Mrs. Snyder and her former sweetheart, Judd Gray.

WOMEN BARRED FROM DEATH CHAMBER AS RUTH PAYS PENALTY

Sing Sing Prison, Jan. 11.—All women were barred today from the execution tomorrow night of Ruth Brown Snyder and Henry Judd Gray.

Warden Lawes announced that no women—news writers or prison matrons—would be admitted to the death chamber while the blonde slayer and her paramour are shocked into eternity for the brutal murder of Albert Snyder.

He intimated that two or possibly three matrons might enter the chamber following the execution of Mrs. Snyder to shield her body from the gaze of the 24 male spectators while Dr. C. C. Sweet, the prison physician, makes his stethoscopic examination.

Every road leading to the grim-walled buildings on the east bank of the leisurely-flowing Hudson will be blocked tomorrow night when Gray, first, and then the "tigress" woman who was his companion in the sordid slaying of her husband are led "in behind" the little green door from which there is no returning to this life.

DIVERS GET 15 BODIES FROM S4 WRECK TODAY

Provincetown, Jan. 11 (U.N.S.)—Naval divers recovered a fifteenth body late today from the sunken submarine S4, making a total of 32 bodies recovered to date.

By The Associated Press.

The recovery of eight additional bodies from the sunken submarine S-4, making a total of 14 so far today, was reported in a radiogram received at the Navy Yard from Rear Admiral Frank H. Brumby, directing the salvaging operations at Provincetown. The radiogram contained no details.

Officers at the navy yard pointed out that but three bodies of the 40 victims, not including the six men who perished in the S-4's torpedo compartment, remain in the sunken submarine.

According to the plans of the salvaging officers, the S-4's torpedo compartment would not be opened until the submarine was raised and drydocked.

Soon after divers was resumed at Provincetown this morning six bodies were recovered in the motor

"BABY FACE BANDIT" DIES IN CHAIR WEEK OF MAR. 1

Herbert J. Gleason of Jamaica Plain, characterized as the "Baby Face Bandit," was sentenced today in Middlesex Superior Court by Judge Hugo Dubuque to die in the electric chair during the week of March 11. The youth took his sentence with a smile. When asked, previous to sentence, if he wished to say anything, Gleason answered emphatically: "Nothing." He was convicted of murdering James Monagle, Medford storekeeper, during a holdup.

CHAMBERLIN HOPS OFF AFTER DURATION MARK

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Jan. 11 (A.P.)—Clarence D. Chamberlin, New York-to-Germany flier, and Roger Q. Williams hopped off 13 minutes after noon today in an attempt to break the present duration flight record of 35 hours 22 minutes and 31 seconds.

At the last moment the aviators abandoned their plan to try also for a "closed circuit" record by flying to some distant city and back. They determined, instead, to concentrate solely on the duration record, and to fly all the time in the vicinity of the Long Island flying fields.

Chamberlin was at the controls at the takeoff. The ship circled lazily above the field at scarcely more than 500 feet elevation. Speed was held down so that the 451 gallons of gasoline might be conserved.

The fliers planned to drop a message reporting how they were getting along every morning and evening.

Miss Marion G. Gaudette of No. 58 Roslyn street, Ashmont, author, book reviewer and former assistant instructor at Boston University, whose engagement to him was announced Jan. 7 last, says "yes."

Leavitt declares there is no engagement, that he regards the announcement as a Leap Year joke, but if Miss Gaudette is insistent he would "just as soon marry her tomorrow."

In the meantime friends of the couple, both of whom are prominent in literary and artistic circles of this city, are attempting to solve the mystery.

"Yes, we are really engaged, and we are very happy," said Miss Gaudette, who is 30.

CLEAR 4 SENATORS IN MEXICO BRIBE PROBE

Washington, Jan. 11 (U.N.S.)—The four Senators named in the Mexican documents published in the Hearst newspapers were given a clean bill of health today in a partial report submitted to the Senate by the special committee which investigated the documents.

The four Senators were Norris of Nebraska, Heflin of Alabama, Borah of Idaho and LaFollette of Wisconsin.

The committee found the documents were spurious and signatures purporting to be of President Calles, who allegedly ordered the payment of $1,215,000 to the Senators, were forged.

GRAY'S LAST FUNDS FOR DINNER TO DEATH CELL MATES

Warden Lawes will take no chance of a disturbance when the current of electricity—less clumsy than a window weight and equally effective—takes the life of a man and the life of a woman to avenge the killing of the New York art editor.

The silent hopelessness that is common to convicts when the death house clock ticks off the few remaining minutes of their lives held fast today the man and woman who must die in less than 30 hours.

One infinitesimal ray of hope—that horror may have gripped their tortured brains and hurled them into an abyss of insanity—remained for them.

LAST HOPE IN INSANITY.

As State alienists filed solemnly back to the death house today for their final examination of the condemned pair, prayers went up from the lips of those who still love them that the three physicians might find them stark mad.

The lunacy commission, headed by Dr. George Smith of Central Islip Hospital, and composed in addition of Drs. Paul Laddicen of the Ogdensburg Hospital and Joseph W. Moore of the Matteawan Asylum for the Criminally Insane, arrived at the prison a few minutes before noon.

"It is the regular order of procedure, this visit," Dr. Smith said. "The fact that this case is so prominent serves to call attention to the circumstance and magnify its importance."

Reminded that if the condemned pair were found to be insane, the sentence could not be carried out, he said:

CHANCES REMOTE.

"Certainly not. But the likelihood of insanity developing at this hour is remote, indeed. However, we shall examine them closely for any indication of a change in their mental condition. If there is such indication, it may be necessary to make another examination tomorrow in order to determine if there has been a definite collapse of the mental equipment."

At noon today Ruth and Judd had not been told that Governor Smith had refused to heed their pleas for clemency. Warden Lawes refused to permit members of the prison staff to convey the news and forbade newspapers to be taken into the cells. He did say, however, that either the couple's attorneys or their relatives might take the news to them, if they saw fit.

NO NEWS BAD NEWS.

But though there was none to tell them the tragic news by word of mouth, they seemed to feel it in the prison air. Certainly they knew that if there was good news from the Governor it would have been hurried to them at the break of day. Even when there was none, the very silence of their keepers told them all too definitely that the last hope of outside aid was gone.

Gray ate heartily of his breakfast, but Mrs. Snyder only drank a bit of orange juice and returned to her cot.

Early today Samuel E. Miller, counsel for Gray, still hopeful even in the face of the overwhelming odds, hurried from New York to Ossining to obtain Gray's signature to a first person appeal to the Federal Court in New York for a writ of habeas corpus. Only by this writ, Miller said, can he hope to stay the execution.

MILLER SEEKS STAY.

Miller went before U. S. Justice Goddard at 2 o'clock to ask that a habeas corpus be granted on the grounds that his client's constitutional rights have been violated.

He charged that the convicting jury was selected largely by command of Mrs. Snyder's attorneys and that a joint trial of the two defendants was in violation of a citizen's right of protection.

However futile the gesture may be, Joseph Lonardo, designated attorney of record for Mrs. Snyder, will make a similar move sometime today. His charges will be virtually the same as those made by Miller, and he is expected to visit Ruth in her death cell sometime this afternoon to obtain her signature. Her appeal also will be in the nature of a first person plea.

24 WITNESSES INVITED.

Invitations to witnesses to attend the double execution have been sent out by Warden Lawes and formally accepted. Twenty-four persons, 20 newspaper men and four physicians, will march from the warden's office to the execution chamber shortly before 11 o'clock tomorrow night. After Mrs. Snyder and Gray have been put to death the witnesses will sign a register attesting to the fact that they witnessed the execution.

Reporters and special writers are arriving in Ossining in droves. Taxicab drivers are reaping a harvest. The telegraph companies have installed wires in a hotel about two blocks from the prison. The warden has forbidden the use of prison telephones and will not allow any wires to be cut into Sing Sing.

While Ruth Snyder sobs in her cell because she will not be dressed in her silks when she goes to the death chair tomorrow night, and while Judd Gray doles out his few remaining cents to his mates in the death-house, outside the prison walls a sordid battle is being waged, with the cost of the killing of the murderess as its motive.

DEMANDS $250 FEE.

Robert Elliott, executioner who will switch on the current that means death for the slayer of Ruth Snyder's husband, wants $250 for killing Ruth, $100 more than the regulation price of death. He did not say why it should be worth more to send a woman into eternity than a man, but points out that Executioner Davis received $250 for killing Mrs. Mary Farmer in Auburn prison two decades ago.

The State wants to pay but $150 for the killing of the woman, the same amount that Elliott will receive for putting Judd Gray out of the world. The price was also $250 for the executioner who put Martin Place to death in the chair nearly 30 years ago.

Gray's last acts on earth will be to pay host to a special dinner to prisoners with whom he has become acquainted, the condemned man footing the bills. He kept but six dollars of the funds he had with him when brought to the prison and this he gave to a negro, who, like himself, must end his days in the death chair.

"This will buy you cigarettes," he said with a smile, "until it is time for you to follow me over the road, the end of which nobody knows."

Let Ruth Die! Verdict of Boston Women

Ruth Snyder should live. Ruth Snyder should die.

Opinions, written in letters of New England women and girls, continue to pour in on the question of the execution of Ruth and Henry Judd Gray, scheduled for Thursday night at Sing Sing prison.

Here are some of the writers' opinions, expressed in their own words:

MRS. MARY A. GALLAGHER, Boston—Ruth and Judd are both [illegible] poor souls. They must have been insane or victims of poisoned liquor. I would say let them live.

MISS DELLA B. ZOTTOLI, Somerville—I think the sentence was justified as their crime was the most cowardly I have ever heard of. Some folks have remarked "What will become of the little girl?" She has ruined [illegible] all her life. [illegible]

MISS EDITH KNAUER, Roxbury—Let Ruth Snyder live. God will punish her. Think it over, Mr. Governor. She and Judd must have been insane when they did it.

MISS MAE GILLESPIE, Allston—They should both die because they are equally culpable. Such a crime the Snyder-Gray atrocity was. Of course, I am sorry for the families.

VICTORINE DOHERTY, Revere—Young flippers crying for a woman's blood. What do they know about suffering? Poison means those killed Snyder punish its advocates deserves. [illegible]

BETTY COHEN, Malden—Life imprisonment is more of a punishment and Lorraine would be saved her mother. Having no mother myself, I know the feeling for other, but otherwise. Don't make [illegible] martyr.

[illegible] Frankenstein, R. I.—Capital punishment [illegible] be for all those shameful [illegible] to put the crime and [illegible] with pay the supreme [illegible]

ESTHER WITHERS, Melrose—I hope they will save Ruth from the chair for the sake of the dear ones she will leave behind. I think she must have been insane when the deed was committed. Mr. Gray should have thought of his children. He has my sympathy, too.

MARGIE BABCOCK, Allston—What a woman! But what a man, too! How could they be so brutal and cold as to even interest themselves in such a violation of humanity? If Ruth Snyder were sane when she killed her husband, she should die in the chair.

ANNA R. RATTE, Boston—Ruth Snyder deserves the chair. So does Judd Gray. An eye for an eye should apply to these two murderers. Man or woman, punishment should be the same.

POLICE OFFICER'S WIFE LOSES AUTO LICENSE

Mrs. Mary T. Armstrong of Brighton, wife of Ainley Armstrong, chief of inspectors of the Boston Police Department, today lost her driving license in an order announced by Frank A. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles.

On December 17, Mrs. Armstrong figured in an automobile accident in Commonwealth avenue in which Robert E. Keatley of Somerville met his death.

12 "Cranks" Offer to Die in Chair for Ruth Snyder

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 11 (A.P.).—Warden Lawes announced today that he had received a dozen letters from people who offered to die in place of Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray. The writers were all characterized by the warden as "cranks."

'LET RUTH DIE!' THEY SAY

"EYE FOR AN EYE"

"Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray both deserve death in the chair," declared Anna R. Ratte of Boston. "They are guilty; the law is equal."

"BOTH SHOULD PAY"

Yvonne Ray of Providence, believes if capital punishment is to be for the man, it should be for the woman, and both should pay.

SYMPATHY FOR KIN

Mae Gillespie of Allston, who thinks Ruth and Judd should die. She sympathizes with their families but feels no sorrow for them.

"WHAT A CRIME!"

Marge Babcock of Allston said: "Ruth should die for her coldly brutal crime. Her act was horrible."

LITTLE GIRL'S PATHETIC APPEAL TO GOVERNOR SMITH

This letter, which is one among countless hundreds of thousands which have burdened the mail of Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, was, like all the rest, in vain. It was written by a Cambridge girl of 10, and relayed to Governor Smith by the Boston Evening American.

BLUE-EYED BABY GIRL OFFERED FOR ADOPTION

'WHO'LL GIVE ME A NICE LITTLE HOME?'

BRITAIN MAY BAR MATING OF RAJAH AND U. S. GIRL

GOOD HOME IS SOUGHT FOR LITTLE ONE

By FRANCES L. BAIRD

"Listen! Is that daddy coming?"

Wriggling with joy baby Yvonne twisted in her little rocker to catch the first glimpse of her beloved "daddy."

"Coo, coo!" She stretched her chubby little arms toward Frank Roach, her foster father, as he entered the door of No. 12 Devon street Everett.

Beaming with tenderness Roach lifted the blue-eyed baby in his arms.

She rubbed her lips against his face and patted him with one hand, gurgling baby love talk into his ear the while.

"You see how she loves me," said Roach. "It breaks me all up to have to give this darling baby up. But yesterday the doctor told me that my wife has to be operated on at once and times have grown so hard that we can't make ends meet. We took Yvonne three months ago when her mother offered her for adoption and she has grown very dear to us.

When they took the baby they did not take out the necessary legal papers, so Yvonne has no legal claim upon them—nothing but the baby fingers that have twined themselves around both foster parents' hearts.

The baby's mother is Mrs. Sterling Harper, of No. 75 Front street, Weymouth, who advertised her for adoption.

"We have a baby four months old now who is all the world to us. Yvonne will have a better chance if she is adopted than I can give her. I hope she will get a good home—that is my wish," said Mrs. Harper.

Gray Eats Heartily, But Ruth Only Sips Drink

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 11 (A.P.)—The breakfasts ordered today by Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, the next to the last breakfast they will ever eat unless the courts stay their execution, were cited by prison attendants as an indication of the different ways in which the two prisoners are facing imminent death.

Gray, calm and apparently resigned, ate toast and a large bowl of cooked cereal and drank coffee.

But Mrs. Snyder, who has remained unreconciled to her end, merely sipped a small glass of orange juice, refusing all solid food.

BABY'S MOTHER WANTS HER TO HAVE GOOD CHANCE

Skirts to Be 'Longer,' Full Inch Below Knee

New York, Jan. 11 (A.P.)—Women of fashion will wear longer skirts next Spring—fully one inch below the knee—the semi-annual style review of the Garment Retailers of America has disclosed.

The style promenade, given at the Hotel Astor, also introduced three new colors for Spring wear. They were independence blue, a light navy blue; water blue, a blue with a greenish tinge, and natural beige, a grayish tone.

Evening models disclosed an even greater skirt length than the gowns for informal wear, having shorter lengths in front and the backs almost touching the floor.

MISS MILLER IS BOUND TO BE THIRD WIFE

London, Jan. 12 (A.P.)—A Bombay dispatch to the Daily Express today said that the American consul there had given up all hope of preventing the marriage of Miss Nancy Ann Miller of Seattle, Wash., to the former Maharajah of Indore. The consul was quoted as saying the only hope now was for the British government to intervene.

Miss Miller arrived in Bombay on an Italian boat. The only white person she seems to have met is the American consul. He tried to persuade her to reconsider her decision to marry an Indian, pointing out possible consequences of such a union. Miss Miller was unmoved. She went to Madras, where it is presumed she intends to wed her future husband. The former maharajah already has two wives.

HINDU CEREMONIES

The purification ceremony known as "shuddhi," which Miss Miller must undergo to be converted from Christianity to Hinduism, will be a strange experience for the American girl.

As described by the secretary of the Hindu Students' Union in London, the ceremony lasts for about two and a half hours. She must sit and listen to the chanting of Hindu priests invoking the blessing of the Hindu trinity upon her, particularly requesting that she may be happy. She takes no part in the ceremony and makes no responses.

Miss Miller must get up very early in the morning, since the ritual begins with sunrise. If there is no sun, there is no ceremony. For days previous to the ceremony the priests cast lots to select the lucky, auspicious day. They begin the ceremony by building a fire of coals

Nearly $200,000 worth of contraband liquors, vessels, trucks and dope were seized during 1927 for violation of customs, it was announced by Boston customs officials today, according to figures made public today.

The seizures, made by the special duty squad headed by Deputy Collector Thomas F. Finnegan, were responsible for fines of $46,346.91 and jail sentences totaling nine years.

Opium seizures totalled 867 ounces valued at nearly $5,000 and 21 packages of cocaine worth $139 were seized.

Liquor seizures—of foreign origin and not including that turned over to prohibition agents—totalled 18,611 gallons of Islay, used in making Scotch whiskey, besides 88,224 bottles of assorted liquors, all appraised at $120,425.58 and valued at four to five times the sum in the hands of scofflaws.

Fifteen autos, six trucks, the same number of motorboats, five dories and two schooners were included in the list in addition to recdistilling apparatus turned over to prohibition forces.

2 GIRLS BATTLE MEN IN AUTO

Broadway, Revere, nearly in front of City Hall, was the theatre of action in an early morning battle staged within the narrow confines of a closed automobile, with two Boston waitresses and two young men as belligerents.

The girls, Helen Brown of West Newton street, and Marie Burke, same address, were badly scratched and bruised when Patrolman Delaney came upon them after they had been thrown from the moving automobile, according to their story.

They said they had got through their work in a Back Bay restaurant at an early hour this morning and accepted an automobile ride from two men, one of whom Miss Brown said she knew.

Patrolman Delaney took the two to a doctor's offices, where their scratches and bruises were treated, and they said that they would return later in the day and seek a warrant for the arrest of the man Miss Brown knew.

SARATOGA STARTS OFF ON HER MAIDEN SEA TRIP

Delaware Breakwater, Del., Jan. 11 (A. P.)—The giant airplane carrier Saratoga, which had been accorded here since last Friday celebrating her radio compass, passed out to sea at 4:37 a. m. today. The Saratoga, which is on her maiden sea trip, and will join the Pacific fleet, will stop at Hampton Roads for supplies, and then proceed to Newport, R. I., where the carrier will take on torpedoes. The Saratoga will then go to the west coast by way of the Panama Canal.

RISKS HER LIFE TO SEE BOAT

A glimpse of a Dutch steamer tied up in Lynn harbor, the largest ever to enter those waters, almost cost a girl her life today.

Ruth Green, 22, of Suffolk street Lynn, with four other girl workers visited the coal wharf this noon to see the ship. Walking along the edge of the wharf Ruth tripped and fell backwards into the water on fast deep. She was rescued by John Diamond.

Girl Drunken Driver's Night in Cell Enough

The old slave dungeons of Wakefield's imagination had little if anything on the cells in Wakefield's police station, according to testimony in Malden District Court today when Miss Esther A. Hamilton, twenty-six, West Newton stenographer, was arraigned for driving while under the influence of liquor.

Miss Hamilton spent a night in the station cell after her arrest and one night in a Wakefield cell is punishment enough, her counsel, Leo A. Rogers, argued to the court. Wakefield's police chief, James J. Pollard, agreed that the cells are quite uncomfortable and otherwise depressing. So Judge Davis, finding Miss Hamilton guilty, imposed a fine of only $50, half the usual amount.

Announcing his finding, Judge Davis urged both Rogers and the police chief to place before the next Wakefield town meeting the matter of more comfortable and up-to-date cells.

CHAMBERLIN ON WAY AFTER AN AIR MARK

food consisted of a gallon and a half of coffee, a supply of ham sandwiches and three roasted chickens.

If successful, Chamberlin and Williams would break the existing record shortly after 4 p. m. Friday.

Their ship is a Bellanca monoplane similar in many respects to the "Columbia" in which Chamberlin and Charles Levine made their transatlantic flight last summer.

Chamberlin said he hoped to stay up three days and two nights to eclipse the record established August 3, 4 and 5 by the German fliers, Eduard and Risticz, previous to that the record of 51 hours and 25 minutes had been held by Chamberlin and Bert Acosta, who set that mark last April.

How Hub Women Would Spend Their Last Day

If you had only one more day to live how would you spend it?

If the electric chair waited while your mother wept and your child begged to see you, what would you do about it?

Boston women almost unanimously declare that Ruth Snyder, who must expiate her crime against society—the murder of her husband—should spend her last day on earth praying for her soul.

Only one woman of a score who were asked how they would spend their last day on earth under similar circumstances thought Ruth Snyder's most humane action anything earthly during her last hours in the death cell at Sing Sing Prison.

COMFORT IN FAITH.

MRS. ANNA BERGER of Ayer—The State has no right to set anybody's last day on earth. My own brother was murdered in cold blood and we thought we wanted his slayer's blood at the time. But as the day of his slayer's execution drew near it was almost as terrible to think of him being killed as it was to contemplate his murder of our brother. But if Ruth Synder has embraced the Catholic faith she will go out calmly, sure that her sin is forgiven. It is her poor mother whom the State is killing by inches, and it is her and the little girl Ruth should spend her time consoling now.

MISS CARRIE DORMAN of Braintree thinks Ruth should spend her last day petitioning her Creator to forgive her heinous crime. It is the only thing left for her to do.

ALICE TRAYERS, clerk in a department store—If Ruth has any fear of God in her heart she will spend her last day in prayer.

"SHOULD SEE CHILD."

MARIE MacDONALD, clerk—I cannot put myself in Ruth's shoes for I could not entertain such thoughts as led her to her doom. But I recommend for her last day on earth a visit with her little daughter, for the girl will know how her mother died some day and she should be allowed to say goodbye.

MRS. W. F. SMITH, Boston—Everyone would spend the last day on earth according to his or her disposition. I cannot conceive of the heart of a woman who could plan the deed that Ruth Snyder did deliberately, but if I were in her place I should certainly pray for mercy from God. I don't believe in capital punishment, but I do think this is an exception—a murder not done under stress or impulse, but planned. Let her commend herself to God."

"MUST FACE HIM."

MISS MAYME MILLIGAN, Lynn—Ruth had a husband who treated her like a queen. She had no reason to murder him. She had better think how she is going to face him in the world beyond and ask God to help her.

MRS. MARGARET FEEL, Winchester—Let Ruth spend her last day praying for the welfare of the poor little daughter whom she has branded for life. This will kill her [illegible] Lorraine must bear it [illegible]

MISS [illegible] LONERGAN, Dorchester—I do not know what theology says about it but my own opinion is that even though Ruth Snyder has been baptized into the Catholic faith she should petition God ceaselessly for forgiveness for this awful sin. It is always

COUNTY GALWAY MEN MEET TOMORROW

The 24th annual ball and reunion of the County Galway Men's Association takes place tomorrow night at Hibernian Building, Roxbury. The building has been engaged for the affair and two separate orchestras will furnish music for modern and old fashioned dancing. Ex-Mayor James M. Curley, who is a member of the organization, is expected to address the gathering.

The following are acting on the committee: Michael H. Welby, chairman, Patrick Shields, Edmund Burke, Edward Costello, John J. Fahey, Stephen Darcy, Michael Cuddie, Thomas Faherty, Bart J. Fahey, ex-Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn, Chief Lally, ex-Senator Patrick J. Mellody, Bernard Fahey, Peter McDonough, Peter J. Mahon, Nicholas Grosly, Anthony Lydon, Martin Kelly, Thomas Cooney, Richard McGrath, Luke Lally, Joseph Walsh, Michael McKeon, John Kelley and Thomas McGann.

NUN IN FLAMING GARB LEADS SCORE TO SAFETY

Denver, Jan. 11 (U.S.S.).—With her clothing ablaze, Sister Patricia, teacher of chemistry in Annunciation High School here, probably saved the lives of a score of students when she led them in safety out of the burning building today. An explosion of phosphorous in the laboratory fired the building.

The sister's clothing caught fire while she was removing blazing phosphorus sticks from the exploded container. After marching the pupils out, Sister Patricia was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital. She will recover.

URGES STATE STUDY OF ELECTRIFICATION

The expediency and advisability of an investigation by the Metropolitan Planning Division of electrifying the New Haven Railroad between Boston and Braintree is urged in a resolve filed with the Legislature today by Representative Alfred N. LaBreeque of Quincy. He would have the division make its report not later than December 1 of the present year.

SEEK INCREASED AWARDS ON CONDEMNED CATTLE

The Massachusetts State Grange, in a bill filed with the Legislature today by Senator Cornelius F. Haley of Rowley, asks for an increase in the indemnity paid by the State to cattle owners for animals condemned as tuberculur.

The indemnity for common grade of cattle would be raised from $25 to $50 and that for thoroughbreds from $50 to $100.

"LORRAINES BURDEN."

MISS LOUISE SULLIVAN, Dorchester—Ruth should pray. She should tell Lorraine goodbye, too, for the child will know all about it and may be sure for not saying goodbye. As long as she lives that child will suffer for her mother's crime. Why not give her the consolation of her mother's love in her last hours?

MRS. MARGARET FOLEY, Roxbury: I am amazed at Ruth thinking of clothes in these last days—and of her funeral. She should be praying with her mind fixed on the life beyond—not on the trivial things of this world.

MINNIE MANN, clerk: In Ruth's place I should try to atone to those who are left behind to go on suffering. I should try to console my mother and to assure my child of my love for her. The only thing she can do for Lorraine now is to tell her goodbye and give her own version of the crime, for some day Lorraine will know and blame her for not saying goodbye.

Ruth Begs Sallie Girl to Visit Her in Cell

New York, Jan. 11.—Mrs. Agnes McKernan, prison secretary of the Salvation Army, has received a court order, signed by Justice James J. Dunne of Brooklyn, to allow her to visit Ruth Snyder. Mrs. McKernan presented an affidavit to the Judge to the effect that she had given spiritual consolation to Mrs. Snyder in the Long Island City jail and attached the following letter she received from the condemned woman:

"I have waited for months to see you and in my last letter to you I asked you to go to Judge Hazzelton and at my request get permission to visit me.

"Do try, won't you? to come up.

"Write to Warden Lawes and ask if you may. Rules are rules and we must abide by them.

"I would love to see you soon.

"RUTH SNYDER."

Whether Warden Lawes, even in view of the court order, would permit the Salvation Army secretary to see Mrs. Snyder had not been determined today.

BAUER OPPOSES STATE BRIDGE CONTROL

Mayor Ralph S. Bauer of Lynn today vigorously opposed the proposal of the Metropolitan District Commission to take over control of all bridges crossing the Charles River Basin excepting the so-called West Boston bridge.

The proposal was heard at the State House before the legislative committee on metropolitan affairs.

Davis R. Kenisten, chairman of the commission, declared the commission has control and maintenance of the Harvard bridge, viaduct, the Weeks foot bridge and the North Beacon street bridge, and could see no reason why the others should not be placed under the same control.

The basin, he said, is really a water park area, policed by the commission. The entire cost of maintenance is estimated to be as low as $12,000 a year, to be assessed on the cities served by the structures.

"I am absolutely opposed to the principle involved in this bill and to any move to further burden the cities and towns and their real estate," declared Mayor Bauer.

The next move, he predicted, will be to have all highway bridges p under State control and mainte

ADMIRAL ANDREWS DEFENDS WINTER SUB MANEUVERS OFF N. E.

TELLS HOW HE RUSHED S4 AID

Operation of submarines in New England waters during the Winter was defended today before the S4 inquiry board by Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, commandant of the Boston Navy Yard and of the First Naval District.

"If submarines and other vessels must operate in wartime in cold weather and under strenuous circumstances," declared the admiral, "they must practice it in peace times.

"I have often thought the fleet might well do more cruising in northern waters in Winter."

He said the Provincetown course, where the S4 was sunk in collision with the Coast Guard destroyer Paulding, is suitable for submarine trials because of the depth of water.

RUSHED RELIEF PLANS.

He declared there is no established rule regarding the use of submarine tenders during standardization trials, but the last four years, the Boston navy yard had been requested to furnish a seagoing tug on nine occasions for submarine trials off Provincetown.

In several other instances, a vessel from outside the First Naval District, had been sent, or a tender had been dispensed with altogether.

Admiral Andrews testified to the speedy placing into operation of the huge navy machine in an attempt to save the lives of the men of the S4, within a few comparative minutes after the craft had settled in the mud of the ocean bed.

Immediately after receipt of word that an unknown submarine had gone down off Wood End, relief messages were singing over the wires to Portsmouth, New London, New York and Washington.

At the same time fires were roaring up under the boilers of ships at the Boston Navy Yard, and within half an hour lines were slipped and to Boston relief boats cut out across the harbor and headed for the tragedy spot.

REQUEST FOR TUG.

Admiral Andrews testified that on December 3 he received a request from the Board of Survey and Inspection, U. S. Submarines, for use of a sea tug for eight days.

He assigned the tug Wandank and she left the navy yard on December 5, on which date the commandant was notified that standardization tests of two submarines were to be made.

Coming up to the date of the tragedy, December 17, Admiral Andrews testified:

"At 3:49 on the afternoon of Saturday, December 17, I received a telephone call from the Coast Guard station at Nahant that the destroyer Paulding had rammed and sunk an unknown submarine off Wood End, Provincetown.

RELIEF IS SPEEDED.

"For a moment we thought there must be some mistake, but I said that we could not take any chances. A minute later, 3:50, a second message was received, direct from the Paulding, to the same effect.

"I told the communication officer on duty to send telephone and telegraph messages in code to Provincetown, to Portsmouth and to New York and Washington. This was done immediately."

YOUNGS ON WEDDING TRIP TO NEW YORK AND SOUTH

Following a wedding in No. 19 Leonard road, Melrose, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Young are on a honeymoon trip to New York and the South. Mrs. Young was Louise Mildred Watkins, a professional nurse, and Mr. Young is a contractor and builder. Rev. K. Hawley Jackson of the Nazarene Church, Malden, performed the ceremony.

WILL SHE BE HIS FOURTH BRIDE?

William Homer Leavitt says he will marry Miss Gaudette if she insists, but he has known her only a month.

this announcement," said Leavitt, who is 50 by his own admission.

LEAP YEAR JOKE.

The conflicting statements were made when a representative of the Boston Evening American sought to obtain statements from Miss Gaudette and Leavitt, following publication of the announcement of their engagement in a local paper.

To the surprise of the reporter Leavitt, who has been married three times, denied he was engaged to the attractive young French woman, who came to this country in 1914.

"The first thing I knew about this was when I saw the clipping from a local newspaper," he declared. "I'm not engaged to her and I'm not trying to find out who published this announcement. It looks to me like a Leap Year joke."

Then, as though to soften the harshness of his denial, the artist added:

"Although I'm certainly not engaged to her and she says I am—well, I'm a good sport and would just as soon marry her tomorrow. I would be proud to be her husband. She is a brilliant, dashing and charming young person."

Miss Gaudette displayed no hesitancy in affirming the engagement announcement, even after being told of Leavitt's denial.

"Certainly I am engaged to him," she said smilingly. "He probably denied it because he has been annoyed a great deal of late by reporters."

The puzzled interviewer, fearful that he had not heard aright, asked the first question again.

"Are you really engaged to him?"

"Yes, we are engaged, and we are very happy," Miss Gaudette replied, to find out on what grounds.

"When are you going to be married?"

"We are keeping the date secret. There are only three times in a person's life when publicity is necessary: When they are born, when they are married and when they die."

Miss Gaudette added they would spend their honeymoon in Paris, and remain there one year. It was also revealed that the couple met for the first time only a month ago, while attending a meeting of the Monuscript Club of Boston, of which Miss Gaudette is a member.

MARRIED RUTH BRYAN.

Leavitt, who makes his home with his eighty-three-year-old mother at No. 148 Massachusetts avenue, and who is as well known as a lecturer on art as he is as an artist, first married Ruth Bryan, daughter of the Great Commoner, in Lincoln, Neb., in 1903, two children, Ruth and Bryan, resulting from the union. In 1908 Mrs. Leavitt, whose parents were said to have objected to the match, obtained a divorce and later married Lieutenant Reginald A. Owen of the British Royal Engineers, who died a month ago in Miami.

Leavitt's second marriage was to Gertrude Leffer, daughter of a Danish minister, in Paris, who died in less than a year afterward. Of her the artist said:

"She was beautiful and talented. Her companionship was one of the most delightful experiences of my life." In 1914 Leavitt startled his friends by a private display in Newport of an unusual portrait of his then wife, the former Miss Leffer.

The third matrimonial venture was when he led Clara Killins of Springfield, Ill., to the altar.

"I lived with her six months," said the artist with a sigh. "She wanted nine years before she divorced me. I never took the trouble very happy." Miss Gaudette replied, to find out on what grounds."

"OH, YES, WE'RE ENGAGED"

Miss Marion G. Gaudette of Ashmont will be the bride of William Homer Leavitt, Boston artist and ex-son-in-law of Bryan, if her word counts. And the honeymoon in Paris will last a year. He says the reported engagement must be a New Year's joke.

Divorce Petitions in London Increase Due to Censor

London, Jan. 11 (A.P.).—Divorce petitions show a considerable increase for the Hilary sittings, or the first quarter of the term, which opened today. Seven hundred and ten cases are listed, as compared with 600 for the same period of 1927.

The increase is claimed to be partly due to the censored hearings afforded by the law under which testimony may not be printed.

Fifty Sportsmen Fined

Fifty persons were convicted during December of violations of the fish and game laws. Fines imposed, from $5 to $150, totalled $885. In addition the 50 lost their sporting and trapping licenses for a year.

compartment by Divers Thomas Campbell and Frank Crilley.

Campbell and Crilley descended from the mine sweeper Falcon at 9:30 o'clock, the former entering the sunken submarine through the motor compartment hatch. Campbell climbed a ladder which he had carried down, to the hatch and then lowered himself to the compartment on it. He found two bodies almost directly under the hatch. After he had passed them up to Crilley, he made his way aft and found four more. These were also passed up to Crilley.

Campbell then located a seventh body lying between the air compressors but was notified that his time was up and ordered to come to the surface. After Campbell left the submarine, he joined Crilley on the ocean bottom and both tied the six bodies to a single hauling line.

They signaled the surface and the bodies were hauled up and placed on a surf boat, which carried them to the submarine tender Fishhead, anchored inside Provincetown Harbor, about a mile from the scene of the S4 disaster.

When the first two divers returned to the Falcon, Thomas Campbell and William Carr were preparing to descend. Campbell reported the presence of the seventh body before he entered the Falcon's decompression chamber and Eadie and Carr were ordered to remove it from the submarine and send it to the surface.

KING'S ADDRESS WRITTEN BY FORMER BLACKSMITH

Stockholm, Sweden, Jan. 11 (A.P.)—Traditional royal pomp and splendor surrounded the opening of the Swedish Parliament today, for which King Gustav's speech from the throne was written by the people's party premier, Carl Ekman, who once was a blacksmith. The throne address said that Sweden was on friendly terms with all nations and announced a number of new bills. One of these bills removes the licenses for public dances in an effort to protect the morals of the young.

BRONZE PRESENTED TO ENGLISH HIGH JAN. 25

Walter F. Downey, headmaster at the English High School, announced that the Daniel Chester French work which will be presented to the school January 25, is a monumental bronze group. It is a work costing $2,000 and is the gift of a grateful son to his Alma Mater, and it beautifully embodies the spirit of the English High School.

In the group, which is life size, "Alma Mater" is represented as a mother about to send her son out into the battle of life.

The presentation, the acceptance and the unveiling of the group will be the feature of an alumni reunion which takes the form of a dinner in the drill hall of the school.

Bay State Holds Typhoid Death Rate Record

The death rate from typhoid fever in Massachusetts during 1927, from figures now available, indicates the lowest record ever reported by any State, Dr. George H. Bigelow, State Commissioner of Public Health, disclosed today.

The rate—1.1 death for each 100,000 of population—is all the more remarkable, it was pointed out, when it is remembered that there were three outbreaks of the disease during the 12-month period.

Chicago, Jan. 11 (A.P.).—Suit for $25,000 has been brought by Thomas J. Pillion, salesman, as compensation for the humiliation he said he suffered when ejected from a theatre because he laughed at a movie sub-title that was not intended to be funny.

BRITAIN MAY BAR MARRIAGE OF EX-RAJAH

known as "ngani" in the middle of the room.

Incense is poured upon the fire until the room is dense with incense clouds. From 75 to 100 priests officiate.

In the middle of the ceremony, the neophyte is handed a goblet of holy water, which she must drink. Then follows another hour of chanting in the Hindu tongue. The priests accept her presence at the ceremony as evidence of the fact that she believes in the Hindu religion's triad of gods: Brahma, creator of the world; Vishnu, god of justice, and Siva, god of vengeance and extirpation.

WEARS FLOWING GARB.

Miss Miller must wear the Hindu woman's flowing garb called sari, though it is not necessary for her to wear the veil. After the ceremony comes a big fete, which may last all day, all the priests and relatives participating.

The neophyte is given instruction in the Hindu religion some days previous to shaddhi.

Shuddhi gives Miss Miller equal social rights with all native born Hindus, but admits her to only about 50 per cent. of the Hindu temples. The ceremony is necessary to give the wife of a Hindu legal standing. Otherwise she is unable to inherit her husband's property.

If children result from the marriage, the children inherit the property. The wife or wives merely get maintenance according to the style in which they were living when the husband was alive. Since the former Maharajah has children, all that Miss Miller can expect is the way of an inheritance is maintenance.

Colombo, Ceylon, Jan. 11 (AP).—Police here said today that the former Maharajah of Indore was somewhere on the island of Ceylon. There was an unconfirmed report that he was at Nuwara Eliya, about 50 miles inland with Miss Nancy Ann Miller of Seattle, Wash., his betrothed bride.

$10,000 RAISE TO GOVERNOR IN NEW BILL

cept those whose salaries are fixed by statute.

The bill filed by Goodwin for the Commonwealth Service Association today is practically the same as that recommended by the Griffenhagen Associates, who made a two-year study of classifications and salaries in Massachusetts.

Commenting on the bill, Goodwin said: "This bill calls for a salary of $20,000 for the governor and $10,000 for the lieutenant-governor, who now receive $10,000 and $4,000, respectively.

"The salaries paid by the State to its high officials are a disgrace, when compared with the salaries paid to high officials of public service corporations and insurance companies, whose salaries are taken from the people in rates and charges, just as surely as the salaries of State officials are taken in taxes.

"The time has come when the State should pay its important officials a sum equal to that paid by public service corporations, or there ought to be something done to regulate the salaries paid to the heads of those companies, which are taking money out of the pockets of the public."

The proposed schedule in the bill filed today follows:

U. S. MOVES TO CALM FEARS OF CACKLE CORNER HENS

Washington, Jan. 11 (A.P.).—Because low-flying air mail planes, passing over "Cackle Corner Poultry Farms" at Garrettsville, Ohio, frighten the 2,500 hen inhabitants, causing them to huddle together and injure each other and also to decrease their egg laying, Postmaster-General New has asked the National Air Transport to fly its planes higher over that town.

The farm proprietor today expressed fear that the planes might put him out of business and asked whether something couldn't be done to relieve the situation.

TAU BETA BETA, BROOKLINE, TO PRESENT SPARKLING COMEDY, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

HAVING MUCH FINESSE AND A CANNY SENSE OF WHAT'S what in the way of highly successful philanthropy (both financially and entertainingly) Tau Beta Beta of Brookline treads right merrily and with heartening results the benefit path. They know the path well, having essayed it annually. And deciding that a theatrical performance, superlatively done, brings in the shekels and affords pleasant entertainment, this aggregation annually presents something topnotch in the amateur line. This year they are doing "Meet the Wife," a hilarious comedy of laughs from end to end.

"MEET THE WIFE" IS SPLENDIDLY STAGED, AND remarkably well cast; two facts easily accepted since Brookline's most excellent organization, "The Amateurs," is fairly well represented, on the boards and directorially. Need more be said as to excellence, since "The Amateurs" are what they are? Tau Beta Beta seeks to financially aid and guide young women along the paths of higher learning. Each year one or more Brookline girls, thus singled out, are started on the course that ends with a sheepskin and letters to follow their names.

TO THOSE KNOWING THEIR THEATRICALS HEREABOUTS, the names of Allan Hoy, Mrs. Benjamin E. Sibley, Irving Locke, Phillip Carter, Barnard Tucker, David Clark, Mrs. Frances L. Small, Mrs. Alan Winsor and Paul Herbert are significant. Allan Hay directs. The others are in the cast. The performances are set for Friday and Saturday evenings of this week, and Whitney Hall in Brookline is the place. Brookline and the smart suburbs out that way expect excellence on Whitney Hall's stage, and certainly will not be disappointed. Mrs. Frank A. Pemberton is general chairman and director—and a most efficient one.

TAU BETA BETA HAS DOWN TO A NICETY ALL THE ANGLES and accessories that make for successful benefits. There is a patroness list, very long and exceedingly representative. One very serves as ushers and another busy flits up and down aisles dispensing, for considerations, cigarettes, candies and blossoms. Mrs. Francis S. Holmes directs the first mentioned coterie and on her staff are, among others, Mrs. Chauncey English, Mrs. Roger Manning, Mrs. Harry Foster, Mrs. Carroll J. Swan, Mrs. Ezra Eaton, Miss Dorothy Milner, Miss Marguerite Moore, Mrs. Paul F. Clark, Mrs. Henry J. Guild and Mrs. Charles S. Jenney.

CANDY SELLING BY THE Younger Set girls becomes an art well mastered. So Miss Torrance Sibley, Miss Helen Allen, Miss Muriel Ames, Miss Dorothy Blanchard, Miss Elizabeth Cushing, Miss Elizabeth English, Miss Helen Idell, Miss Ellen Kennedy, Miss Charlotte Manning, Miss Elizabeth Mercer, Miss Ernestine Hills, Miss Isobel Neer, Miss Dorothy Preston, Miss Dorothy Rollins, Miss Frances Seaver, Miss Caroline Sherrill, Miss Claire Sibley, Miss Elva Stearns, Miss Marie Tufts and Miss Blair Whittier should bring golden harvest.

IN LETTERS OF BRILLIANT gold should Friday be inscribed across the social chronicle. Not so very often (since the Boston calendar is never heavy) do two such affairs as a large ball for an important debutante and a Senior Supper Dance fall within the same evening's hours. Mrs. John S. Curtis is hostess for the one, and for the other there are many "hostesses" and between the two practically every generation of society, from buds to dowagers, finds itself greatly concerned.

DOWAGERS A-PLENTY WILL observe the Curtis ball for Miss Rose Movius. The very handsome ballroom of the Hotel Somerset provides a circle of gilt chairs, and safe to say every one will hold a dowager-observer, handsomely arrayed for this appearance, which is, most likely, one of the few of her Winter. Miss Movius has for mater the distinguished Mrs. Hallam Movius, born West, and sister to George Saltonstall West. For pater, the debutante boasts one known to fame as a polo player. As for the bud herself, good fairies at her cradle were generous with graces and qualities to insure popularity—good looks and charm and poise.

THERE IS A BIG DINNER AT the Hotel Somerset preceding the dance, with a trio of hostesses and a half hundred guests bidden. Mrs. Harry Hill Thorndike, Mrs. Guy Murchie and Mrs. Robert Brewer are the trio, and their hospitality will go on in the Mahogany Room. Dudley Pickman, with his dinner at the Somerset Club for Miss Movius, steps into the felicitous role he occupies now and again for this or that ultra important sprig in the debutante garden. Mrs. George Saltonstall West also gives a dinner.

'More Music, Less Talk,' Is Urged in Churches

New York, Jan. 11 (A.P.)—An effort to bring more color into the service of the Presbyterian Church through better music and hymns has been inaugurated at a conference of about 100 clergymen and choir masters.

"Music produces emotion; music is the essence of Heaven," Rev. Dr. Howard Duffield, moderator of the New York Presbytery, told the conference.

"Yet, strangely enough," he said, "Protestant Churches have devoted more and more time to sermons and less and less to the music and poetry of their hymns."

'NO MORE WAR!' SAYS FORD; ON EDISON VISIT

West Orange, N. J., Jan. 11 (A.P.).—Caught together by eager interviewers, two of America's leading citizens, Henry Ford, and Thomas A. Edison, today faced a barrage of questions which ranged from requests for endorsement of a presidential candidate to the possibility of future wars. Ford said there would be no more wars.

Ford came from New York to the Edison laboratories to visit his old friend and employer. Both will leave tomorrow for the inventor's Winter home at Fort Myers, Fla.

Both were in hearty accord on the desirability of Herbert Hoover's candidacy for the presidential nomination.

"I want Hoover," said Ford.

"And so do I," chimed in Edison.

"So, we agree, don't we, Tom?" Ford said, turning to the aged inventor with a broad smile.

"DON'T GIVE A HOOT"

Ford still declined to show interest in the fact that he is a billionaire.

"I don't give a hoot whether I'm a billionaire or not, and, besides, I don't know whether I am or not," he said.

Asked for his opinion on the future of airplanes as an implement of war, Ford declared there would be no future wars.

"The people today are too intelligent for war," he said emphatically. "Idleness is the cause of war, and there is enough industry now to keep everyone busy."

The faces of both Ford and Edison beamed perceptibly when the name of Charles A. Lindbergh was mentioned.

"Ah, there is no one like him," Ford sighed. "He is marvelous. He is developing new friendships."

Edison, however, failed to share Ford's enthusiasm for aviation. While Ford was avowing airplanes "the greatest marvels of the age, and the coming thing," he said he would take no interest in airplanes until they are "perfected."

After the service the body will be taken to Salem for cremation and in accordance with Mr. Claus' wishes his ashes will be scattered off the coast of Nahant.

HALE 3 TO COURT FOR NEW YEAR'S FALSE ALARMS

The fact that complaints have been issued against two Watertown policemen and a fireman of that town for ringing false alarms was revealed today when one of the officers was arraigned in Waltham District Court.

He was Special Officer George E. Clark, twenty-seven, who has been connected with the Watertown police department for a year, and who was charged in six counts with ringing false alarms in Watertown New Year's eve. He made no plea and the case was continued until Monday, when the other two are expected to appear in court.

They are Patrolman James M. Reilly, a motorcycle officer, with the police department six years, and Fireman Charles A. Howard of Engine 2 company, who is on a six months' sick leave.

It is charged the two policemen and the fireman, in Howard's car, were seen by citizens racing around the town turning in alarms. According to the charges, four were turned in between 9 p. m. and midnight and the other two after midnight.

BARES 'BRIBE' IN BOSCH SUIT

Offers of sufficient sums to silence him as a bidder at the auction of the Bosch Magneto Company on December 7, 1915, were described in Federal Court today by George G. Foster of New York, prosecution witness in the $5,500,000 Bosch suit.

Foster said he deposited his check for $100,000 with Alien Property Custodian A. Mitchell Palmer to qualify him as a bidder. In Springfield on the day of the sale "he did not take part in the bidding, he said.

Palmer, together with a score of other defendants, including a Maryland Judge, a Boston broker and Arthur T. Murray, president of the American Bosch Magneto Corporation, is charged with having defrauded the government of the amount named through alleged irregularities in the sale.

Questioned by Special Prosecuting Attorney Lowell A. Mayberry, Foster declared the first overture made to him to refrain from bidding was on the train going from New York to Springfield. He said Arthur T. Murray introduced him to Martin E. Kent, Judge Harry Covington and Philip Ketchum, Boston lawyer.

"Murray," he testified, "was spokesman for the group to the effect he would give the syndicate for which I was to bid, $1,000,000 of the underwriting together with a block of bonus stock if I refrained from bidding.

"I did not think there was enough in it for my group and refused.

"Later, George A. McDonald, an officer of the Bosch company, offered me 4,585 shares of bonus stock and half the underwriting, which I accepted."

GOVERNOR SMITH'S WIFE RAPIDLY RECOVERING

New York, Jan. 11 (A.P.).—Mrs. Alfred E. Smith, wife of the Governor, who underwent an operation for acute appendicitis Saturday, had a comfortable and restful night, the attending physicians at St. Vincent's Hospital reported today. The official bulletin added that "she is bright and interested this morning and the abdominal wound is progressing satisfactorily."

PASTOR DIES SUDDENLY AFTER FINISHING MASS

Chicopee Falls, Jan. 11 (A.P.).—Rev. Frederick Bonneville, for 36 years pastor of the Church of the Assumption, dropped dead in his rectory today just after celebrating an anniversary mass for a former member of his parish. Death was ascribed to a heart attack. He was a native of Canada and was 76 years old.

WONDERS U. S. WOMEN DOMINATE, THOUGH THIN

New York, Jan. 11.—Lady Hay Drummond-Hay, British feminist, is here to study a puzzle. She wishes to learn why American women dominate. "Thin women have never made history," she remarked, "and yet I have heard all your American women are so slender."

Pays $350 for Little Box of Aspirin; Repenting Now

A small box of aspirin was all Sabastino Quintillo of Hanover street had to show for $350 after listening to two confidence men on Boston Common today.

Quintillo withdrew his savings from a bank in order to show his good faith to one of the men who, with a large roll of bills which he claimed totaled $10,000, was trying to obtain a lawyer to arrange his passage to Italy. Quintillo left his $350 with one stranger while he went for aspirin for the other who was suddenly taken ill.

About a month ago two who police believe were the same pair worked the same scheme to obtain $1,100 from a Boston youth.

ATWATER KENT

THE new! A·C·set RADIO

IT'S NEW! New in appearance, new in engineering, new in ease of operating!

New in appearance.

With its exquisite color combinations, and with the soft sheen of its satin surface—a finish like the richest and loveliest fabrics.

New in engineering!

Look inside. See how ingeniously Atwater Kent engineers have developed a self-contained A. C. Receiver. A powerful, full-voiced, six-tube set, but simple, small, convenient—everything condensed in a shielded cabinet, only 7½ inches high, with no waste space.

Listen. You know real tone when you hear it. Here it is, without disturbing power noises, with its superiority assured by the shielded cabinet and the doubly shielded built-in power supply. This little shielded case, just back of the tubes, is no larger than a jewel case. Yet it takes the place of all the old-style batteries and charger.

Here is accuracy—assured by the precise manufacturing and testing methods of the Atwater Kent factory, where every Model 37 has to pass 222 tests and inspections before it is permitted to leave. Here is durability—assured by these tests, by the material of which every part is made and by the protection of every part against deterioration. Here's a lifetime of enjoyment for you in the new A. C. set.

Here are many features which cannot be copied without infringing on Atwater Kent patents, including innovations which make the single dial control so marvelously efficient.

New in ease of operating!

When you bring in a station with the Atwater Kent ONE Dial you will readily appreciate its advantages—it is a full-vision dial, you see it all at a glance. A touch of the fingers selects the station you want without fumbling or delay. This speed and ease in selecting stations is due to this full-vision dial—one of the features of Atwater Kent Receiving Sets.

Model 37 The astonishing price of the new, six-tube, full-vision ONE Dial, self-contained A. C. set includes everything except tubes and a speaker. No power accessories required—no batteries, no charger. For use only with 110-115 volt, 60-cycle, Alternating Current. Uses six A. C. tubes, and one rectifying tube.

$88 without tubes

Beside the dial is the volume control. Try that, too, and see how easy it is to change from soft music to loud and back again—as you like.

And here is the price—$88! (without tubes).

If you are not already familiar with the Atwater Kent price policy, this may help you to understand that figure—$88!

We never make anything to sell at a certain price. We make it as well as it can be made and then let the cost determine the price. The price of the Atwater Kent 37 is low because many people buy it and because the demand has enabled us to put into effect the economies of very large production. If only a few people wanted our sets, they would be expensive. That's the whole story.

In the Model 37 we offer a really extraordinary A. C. set—a perfected set—a set that will please you in every way.

When you try this set—and raise the lid to see how it's made—at an Atwater Kent dealer's, forget the price until you are satisfied on every other point. Then you'll know the price represents the greatest value we have ever offered.

LISTERINE

—the safe antiseptic

Office worker or porter, clerk or housewife—no matter who we are—every one of us may offend unknowingly.

BODY ODOR...here's the plain truth about it

IT IS no secret that body odor offends. In business, as well as socially, it is a serious handicap.

But do you realize that we are all subject to body odor? That at times nearly everyone is guilty?

And the stuffy indoor life we lead in winter, travel in close, crowded cars—all make body odor more readily noticed now than ever.

We must perspire—or die. Even on coldest days, tiny millions of pores continually give off invisible perspiration—often as much as a quart of waste every 24 hours.

The danger of offending without realizing it

Whether you see this waste body moisture or not—it is always odorous. And it spares no one! Financier or laborer—society leader or servant—all may offend if they don't take precautions.

Body odor more noticeable in winter—due to stuffy rooms—closed windows . .

Pores give off as much as a quart of waste a day—even in coldest weather . . . . .

Now, a purifying toilet soap. Its antiseptic lather keeps you safe from body odor . .

Nor, unfortunately, can we tell when we ourselves are guilty of unpleasant body odor.

For once we become accustomed to an odor, our own sense of smell becomes deadened to it. That's why even the most fastidious people—people who think they are safe—are often among the chief offenders.

Don't risk embarrassment

It's easy now to avoid body odor. Simply wash and bathe often with Lifebuoy, the deodorizing toilet soap.

Just as its mild, antiseptic lather protects health by removing germs—so does it prevent body odor by purifying pores.

And you'll be delighted how fresh and clear Lifebuoy's antiseptic lather keeps complexions. Like millions of others, you'll favor it for every toilet purpose.

Note its hygienic scent

You will learn to love Lifebuoy's clean scent, which proves Lifebuoy purifies, yet which quickly evaporates after rinsing. Use Lifebuoy a week and you'll use it for life. Get some today.

"You Said It Marceline!"

By MARCELINE DAY BOY

Every woman has an IDEAL man
On her MIND often if
She has not got Him
In her LIFE
Ideal MEN of course are a
Great LUXURY as they are Hard to MANAGE
because the IDEAL man, to a
Woman, is usually the man
Who is IDEAL under ALL
Conditions. This means
That WHATEVER she wants
He will get to her
Without QUESTION or
Quibble regardless of TIME,
PLACE and convenience;
Regardless as to whether
He has the MEANS, the Necessary CASH in hand, or
In the bank; regardless
Even of CONSEQUENCES.
THIS, of course, is why
Husbands are SELDOM ideal
Men in their wives!
A husband HESITATES and the Wife's wish is forgotten.
A husband THINKS and argues,
And many women are satisfied
He is crazy—in fact, they Feel it is almost an INSULT.

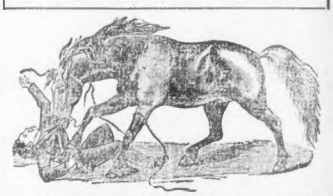
MISTER FRISBY LOSES FIVE FINGERS FOR HIS COUNTRY

CONGRESSMAN MAKES SACRIFICE IN DEMONSTRATION



A SAD accident happened yesterday which will prevent Mister A. Frisby from addressing the Deaf and Dumb Frisby Club, as scheduled, this evening. He lost the fingers off his right hand.

It seems that Congressman Frisby had taken a horse to Barker Brothers' Auditorium, where he hoped to demonstrate his new Farm Aid Bill—the provision to eliminate automobiles and substitute the horse, in order to create a legitimate demand for the discouraged farmers' hay and grain.

Mr. Frisby—according to the only eye witness, a Mr Pray—put his hand in the horse's mouth to see how many teeth he had.

Then what happened?

The horse bit down on Mr. Frisby's hand to see how many fingers he had.

A Baltimore taxi company has hired fifteen young women to drive cabs.

Imagine the dilemma of the fresh passenger who discovers that the driver has decided to walk home.

If the taxi company hires flapper necking, a tremendous rental may accrue from cabs parked by the roadside.

* * *

Anyway, passengers won't have to wait an hour while the driver goes through seventeen pockets looking for change.

She'll merely dip into her stocking.

But it will be annoying when you want to catch a train and have to wait while the driver powders her nose in the rear sight mirror.

This day, my sheepe dogge pay being six months old by the calendar, I did place him on a table and with my magick rule finde he is thirtie inches at the withers, and it be true that a pooch is but half grown at six months, my dogge will be an Gargantuan beastie come June—and when he gallop thither to whisper in mine ear I fear he will knock me down, which Heaven forbid.

THE MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

THE average woman can keep "everything in its place" around the house—except her husband.

Half of the middle-aged men in the world are spending their days working themselves to death about their flapper-daughters—and the other half are spending their nights playing around with other men's flapper-daughters.

* * *

One love, like a cigarette, is easily lighted from another. There is nothing like the gleam of admiration in another man's eye for rekindling the spark of devotion in a cooling lover's breast.

* * *

All these charming husband-slayers are young—or youngish. Apparently, after a woman is forty or fifty, she doesn't care enough about what happens to her to marcel her hair, much less to shoot her husband.

* * *

A woman gives up a love-affair with the same reluctance with which she takes down the Christmas tree, tenderly laying away each glittering memory and tarnished illusion—until the next time.

Most lovers go into marriage with the idea that it is going to be a long series of holidays, like Christmas and New Year's—and are naturally disappointed to discover that it is just a series of wash-days, cleaning days and rent day.

* * *

The ultimate proof of a man's love, these days, is his willingness to refrain from flirting with another woman over your head, while he's holding you in his arms.

When a man settles down after the honeymoon, he generally imagines that he can "bank" his wife's love, like any other fire, put on his office coat and go off about his business.

* * *

There is nothing like a wife's absence to make her husband's heart grow fonder—of his stenographer.

THE WITTY SAYINGS OF MEDBURY

By JOHN P. MEDBURY.

IN spite of wintry weather, the golf courses are still crowded with men who like to swear and don't live near a notary public.

ONE man took up the game because his wife won't let him drink at home.

HE bought an entire golf outfit. Two flashes and a corkscrew.

YOU can't tell his score from his telephone number.

BUT he goes around the course in sixty-eight when nobody's looking.

HIS honesty is in his caddie's name.

HE'S played with one ball for three years and it's as good as new. He hasn't hit it yet.

HE'S an economist. He figures that if you don't hit it you can't lose it.

HE fell into a subway excavation the other morning and it's the only time he ever made a hole in one.

HE'D be a wonderful man for a cemetery. He could dig all their graves with a golf stick.

HE made a beautiful long shot the other afternoon, but the horse didn't come in.

THREE hundred and fifty yards was the farthest he ever drove and he did it in an old Ford.

HE'S an ardent golfer, but he doesn't have much chance to talk about his game. He lives in a boarding house where there are three actors, a radio fan, and a guy who takes a cold bath every morning.

makes his second and final rebid of Spades, bidding four Spades, and South bids five Clubs, knowing that his partner can bid five Hearts if necessary without increase of contract.

Salient Points of the Play

Trick 2. Declarer, well fortified with trumps, leads his singleton Diamond to be in position to ruff.

Trick 4. Declarer cannot lead trumps, as a Heart trick must inevitably be lost to the adversaries, which, followed by a Spade trick, would stop game. Declarer therefore leads Hearts and underplays, holding Dummy's remaining trumps as protection for his own losing Spades.

Trick 5. West, realizing the futility of a force either of Dummy or Declarer, leads a trump in the forlorn hope that East may block Dummy's Hearts.

Mr. Whitehead will answer questions concerning your Bridge problems. Write to him care of this paper, enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope.

WHAT FUTURE HOLDS FOR THE AUTO

By B. C. FORBES

New York, Jan. 11.

WHAT is the long-range outlook for the automobile industry? Very inspiring.

* * *

Great changes are coming in American life. We are going to witness great industrial changes, great economic changes, great financial changes, great growth of the automobile industry.

B. C. Forbes

An abundance of cheap electric power is being made available throughout most parts of the continent. Not so long ago a big new industry hesitated to locate in a small community because of the inadequacy or the unreliability of the supply of artificial power. Small struggling utility plants are almost everywhere being merged into great corporations, capable of supplying dependable, adequate service every day and night of the year. To insure against possible emergencies, the large companies now usually link up a transmission line with their neighboring companies' lines—"interconnect," it is called.

Herbert Hoover, when visiting the Mississippi Valley sections which suffered most seriously by the flood, remarked that nothing had impressed him more than the fact that—confined by utility companies in rigging up lights on the tops of poles, houses, etc., in places that had been turned into lakes and keeping the juice flowing.

This widespread availability of power is destined to bring a revolution amounting almost to a revolution in the location of industries.

Already large corporations are setting up manufacturing and such-like plants in the so-called sections of big cities. The trend for several years has been toward suburbs or metropolitan cities, towards low or moderate size and toward communities not for merely owning industrial plants.

We are assured by the forward-looking that this industrial movement away from the hearts of crowded centres is only in its infancy, and that we are to witness a dotting of almost the whole continent with small industrial plants to give employment to the folks now engaged in seasonal agricultural pursuits or not heretofore within reasonable distance of factory employment.

This spreading out of industrial plants will, combined with other coming changes, open countless new outlets for the sale of automobiles, particularly the low-priced type. Already many families who live in large cities are finding it attractive to own, for pleasure, second cars, but depend on subways, street cars, buses, elevated railways or taxis.

But let these same families move into suburbs, and they promptly put a car—and use it.

Incidentally, I understand that one of the largest and best known industrial corporations in the world is planning to move its headquarters from New York City to New Jersey, a step which unquestionably will mean the flitting of many families from Manhattan Island and Brooklyn to the other side of the Hudson.

Another thing. Invention, machinery, mass production are enabling American industries to pay higher wages than ever before. This trend is likely to continue. As a consequence, more and more people are able to buy an increasing share of life's comforts and luxuries. Our savings deposits have been growing impressively, and already aggregate more than $30,000,000,000. Not only so, but additional millions of employes are becoming owners of securities, and as this movement expands, the incomes of innumerable families will be thereby enlarged.

Thus will the total number of Americans able to purchase automobiles multiply enormously.

By bringing small industries into rural communities, other myriads of car buyers will be created.

* * *

The billions of dollars now being spent and to be spent on new road building, on street widening, on road improvements will make possible a much wider use of automobiles. And speed limits in now congested territories are sure to be raised within the next few years.

* * *

All in all, the long-range outlook for our automobile industry, both at home and abroad, is extremely bright, to the imagination. The industry is only in its lusty youth.

BIG STRIDES IN BAY STATE BUSINESS

Massachusetts has made greater strides in readjusting its business since the war than any other section of the country, the Commission on the Necessaries of Life advised the Legislature in its annual report.

It bases this statement on the receipts of bituminous coal, which increased 5½ per cent. in 1927 over the preceding year in the face of a 10 per cent. drop in fuel consumption for the rest of the country as a whole.

The opinion is expressed that Massachusetts industries suffered more severely from competition with other products and other sections, are becoming better prepared to meet on their merits the test of keen world-wide competition.

DOMINATED BY GROUPS.

The commission finds that the production, transportation and distribution of the necessaries of life are dominated to a large extent by great corporations or closely organized groups.

The growing tendency to obtain larger and larger volumes of business by maintaining higher prices to the great detriment of small consumers as well as to sell to big users at below cost, is condemned by the commission as a dangerous and unsound practice."

Examples are given in the retail price of milk delivered at the door at a quart and as low as 10½ cents to the consumer able to request bills; and to gas and electric bills, which these utilities are endeavoring to extend the use of their products into new fields through lower bulk prices.

CURTAILS PURCHASING POWER

"This practice tends to curtail the purchasing power of the consuming public and, if the economies so effected in the aggregate it represents a considerable sum," the commission points out.

Some of the conclusions reached by the commission are:

That the price of anthracite, basic household fuel, should be lowered.

That the Interstate Commerce Commission should accept the recommendations of the United States Coal Commission of 1923 for a reduction in anthracite freight rates.

That a larger reduction than 50 cents a ton should be given consumers buying their coal in the summer months.

That the special anthracite tax of about $7,000,000 levied on sales by Pennsylvania should be repealed.

ENCOURAGE MANUFACTURE.

That the manufacture of briquets or pressed fuel at tidewater plants in Massachusetts, a new and desirable industry, should be encouraged.

That a larger proportion of our clothing should be made in domestic channels where the cloth is produced.

That additional housing for people of moderate means is still urgently needed.

That the practice of installing cheap and inadequate heating apparatus in new dwellings should be dealt with on the police powers regulations of the trade.

The commission revealed that the retail price of commodities used in the cost of living figures dropped during 1927 from 166.2 to 165.3, a decline taking place in the first half of the year.

In other words, what would have cost $100 to buy in the pre-war period of 1913 would cost $165.30 on the first of January, 1927, and $165.50 on Jan. 1 of the present year.

For the first time since it was established the commission made no legislative recommendations.

EX-GOV. BATES FAILS TO PAY

John L. Bates, former Governor of Massachusetts, has no funds or assets which could be applied to the satisfaction of an assessment of $16,375 made against him as a stockholder of the Tremont Trust Company, according to a report to Frederick W. Mansfield as master, made public today.

When the former Governor failed to satisfy the decree Bank Commissioner Roy A. Hovey filed a contempt proceeding in the Supreme Judicial Court with Mansfield as master.

Judge Walt of the Supreme Court fined Isaac Ansin, another stockholder, $50 in contempt proceedings brought by Commissioner Hovey for failure to respond to a decree ordering Ansin to pay an assessment of $1,310. The court further proposed that if Ansin does not pay the sum and interest from May 2, 1927, at 6 per cent. a capias is to issue for his arrest.

DECIDES LATER ON PLEA TO ALTER TERMS OF WILL

Judge Wait of the Supreme Court reserved decision today on a petition for instructions under the will of Mrs. Frances Lawrence, who left an estate at No. 20 Waverly street, Roxbury, and $175,000 to maintain it as a home for women.

The home was to be known as the Orlando Perry Lawrence Home, in memory of her husband.

It was represented that the house is out of repair and that under the will of the testatrix would involve wasteful expenditure of charitable funds.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY PROPOSED FOR STREET RAILWAY MEN

Representative John A. Jones of Peabody today filed a bill to make the city's work of street railway employes not more than eight hours. A petition filed by Representative Arthur W. Hollis of Newton would strike from the law relative to bar admission the provision that two years in an evening high school satisfies the general education requirement.

WILBUR ASKS 71 NEW WARSHIPS FOR DEFENSE

than we needed if the other powers would agree on similar hazards.

"Great Britain was not willing to accept this limitation, but felt her needs for the larger commerce of cruisers she proposed to be imperative for the protection of her national interests.

"The insistence of Great Britain and of her naval experts and of her delegates at the Geneva conference upon her absolute need for a large tonnage of cruisers, regardless of the programs of other powers, is most persuasive evidence that we also have a definite need for cruiser tonnage, regardless of the program of other powers, if we are to have a well-rounded fleet for our needs and also that such a program for us is in no sense competitive."

The necessary and just five-year program providing construction of twenty-five cruisers, five aircraft carriers, nine destroyer leaders and thirty-two submarines was "in no sense competitive, but is based upon the needs of our navy as is determined by the Secretary of the Navy upon the technical advice of the general board."

NOT BECAUSE OF JAPAN.

"The President is opposed to competitive building," he continued. "Congress has also manifested its unwillingness to engage in competitive building.

"We do not ask you to build a certain number of tons or to live up to a parity with Great Britain, nor do we ask you to construct a certain amount of tonnage in order that we may be on a 5-5 ratio with Japan.

"The general board has advised the Secretary of the Navy as follows:

"The program proposed, if carried out, will furnish a properly constituted fleet, will furnish sufficient strength to insure the protection of the legal rights of our citizens under international law, provide reliance in time of doubtful protect commerce, protect our ocean routes of trade and provide adequate national defense.

"We have not such a fleet at the present time. Each postponement of the undertaking of essential new construction increases the already pronounced inadequacy and further fails to fulfill—

"delay in building up the fleet to the standard of its requirements deprives the country of an adequate national defense for a period of years, and will entail extraordinary financial burdens in future years. Prompt adoption of the program proposed will result in a fleet adequate for national defense and will avoid excess peak loads in future financial demands."

AID TO COMMERCE.

The general board's report called attention to what it termed the need of maintaining a shipbuilding industry, and added that "lack of modern cruisers is very serious and constitutes the Navy's greatest weakness today."

"Every war game, whether played at the war college or carried out in operation on the high seas," the board's report continued, "emphasizes the need for an increased number of vessels of this type. Their duties in peace are of a wide variety, but the basis of which is aid to our overseas trade.

"Our merchants and manufacturers are not only host the foreign markets we have gained, even as European conditions return to normal, we must seek new markets for their output, if our prosperity is to continue.

"Showing the fair has a very marked influence upon their endeavors, and the measure of their success is influenced to no small degree by the prestige which up-to-date and smart modern cruisers create and foster."

The general board's report added that there are 22 cruisers of a total displacement of 184,100 tons which a decommissioned status that should be replaced, for "all luck speed, gun power and a sufficient fighting unit for modern service."

The report also said that the efficiency of destroyer squadrons as a whole "suffers from the lack of soundren leaders," and that it may be possible to operate submarines of a suitable type for long periods at sea. It added that "we cannot afford to neglect" this development.

Wilbur pointed out that because of limitations of the Washington treaty not before Jan. 15th, 1928. The wonderful naval feats of the war and modern light treatment is proved by the fact that they are completely obsolete in respect of every description—catarrh, bronchitis, deafness, head noises, colds, and asthma. No matter what your disease may be, no matter how long you have had it, we will make good the above offer. Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 5 P. M. Sats. 10 to 1, 2 to 4 and 5 to 8; Sun. and Fri. 9 A. We have purchased bargains in furs at this time we started our Fur Sale, but never before in Augusta as we are offering now. During this sale

January Sale

There are hundreds of the most up-to-date garments that you can follow at nearly two-thirds of values and evidences near the end of the season. Prices now will move them more than during the sale that is to follow. Don't be misled—if sale ever held. Here is the reason!

We offer these very low prices because we must move the goods, and until extraordinary financial burdens in future years. Prompt adoption of the program proposed will result in a fleet adequate for national defense and will avoid excess peak loads in future financial demands."

AID TO COMMERCE.

The general board's report called attention to what it termed the need of maintaining a shipbuilding industry, and added that "lack of modern cruisers is very serious and constitutes the Navy's greatest weakness today."

"Every war game, whether played at the war college or carried out in operation on the high seas," the board's report continued, "emphasizes the need for an increased number of vessels of this type. Their duties in peace are of a wide variety, but the basis of which is aid to our overseas trade.

"Our merchants and manufacturers are not only host the foreign markets we have gained, even as European conditions return to normal, we must seek new markets for their output, if our prosperity is to continue.

"Showing the fair has a very marked influence upon their endeavors, and the measure of their success is influenced to no small degree by the prestige which up-to-date and smart modern cruisers create and foster."

The general board's report added that there are 22 cruisers of a total displacement of 184,100 tons which a decommissioned status that should be replaced, for "all luck speed, gun power and a sufficient fighting unit for modern service."

The report also said that the efficiency of destroyer squadrons as a whole "suffers from the lack of soundren leaders," and that it may be possible to operate submarines of a suitable type for long periods at sea. It added that "we cannot afford to neglect" this development.

Wilbur pointed out that because of limitations of the Washington treaty not before Jan. 15th, 1928. The wonderful naval feats of the war and modern light treatment is proved by the fact that they are completely obsolete in respect of every description—catarrh, bronchitis, deafness, head noises, colds, and asthma. No matter what your disease may be, no matter how long you have had it, we will make good the above offer. Office Hours: 9 A. M. to 5 P. M. Sats. 10 to 1, 2 to 4 and 5 to 8; Sun. and Fri. 9 A. EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE ☆ ☆ BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN ☆ ☆ BOSTON JANUARY 11, 1928

THE BOSTON AMERICAN'S PLATFORM FOR BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND

For BOSTON: 1—Clean streets. 2—Solution of traffic and parking problems. 3—Better pay for honest public service. 4—An airport SECOND TO NONE. 5—Erection of a MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM to compare with any in the land, in order that Boston, properly supplied with first-class hotels, may be the premier convention city of the U. S. A.

For NEW ENGLAND: 1—Weld the six States into a unit through the activities of the New England Council, thus creating a community consciousness. 2—Promote intercourse with Central and South America, encouraging New Englanders to "turn to the sea" again. 3—Keeping everlastingly at the job of telling the rest of the country all about our unique advantages as Summer and Winter Playground of the Nation. 4—Foster the prosperity of our industries through (1) greater efficiency in production and (2) the use of modern methods in merchandising. 5—Promote in every way such natural resources as forests, water powers and fisheries. 6—Assist New England agriculture to better marketing methods.

Looks Like a Professor

No "Zoo" Ever Saw Him

THE ACOLOBUS, PALEFACE MONKEY

Edmund Heller, who spent a year with Theodore Roosevelt hunting in Africa, recently captured this curious member of the monkey tribe called "The Acolobus, or Thumbless Monkey." He is a creature to delight the soul of an evolutionist, for with his pale face, hair brushed straight up, he looks like a professor, with firm mouth and chin. This monkey really looks more like a man than some men do.

It is a delicate monkey, cannot stand our climate, and you will never see it in a zoological garden; it wouldn't live a week.

What was it that formed this strange face? Was this monkey, were all the curious monkeys of the world created at the same instant, with the other animals? Did Acolobus amuse little Cain and Abel as it played in the Garden of Eden; did one of them when his father, Adam, wasn't listening say, "It looks something like papa?" Scientists say this and thousands of other kinds of monkeys come gradually by evolution, changing through the thousands of centuries. The scientists point out that men on the earth have changed as much as the monkeys have changed.

The African bushman looks more like this monkey than like a highly developed white man.

Scientists also tell you that the difference, mentally, between a highly developed white man and the lowest savage is greater than the difference between that savage and a blade of grass.

All very puzzling, but we must let scientists and the fundamentalists fight it out, while we wait for a decision.

This is an interesting monkey, and you will be glad to see him in a picture, since you are never going to see him in real life.

There are doctors, professors and lawyers that would give a great deal if they could look as solemn and wise as this monkey looks.

On the other hand, one thing betrays the fact that he is a MONKEY and not very intelligent. You see how high his ear is on his head. No brain BELOW THE EAR. Not much room for brain above this ear.

Britain Works, and Flies

We Watch and Hope

We talk about flying in the United States, and thanks to the Postmaster-General and the President our Postoffice really DOES some flying. But we lag behind, waiting for private initiative to show Uncle Sam what to do with his great inventions.

The British go ahead, and their Government leads them.

The British Air Ministry is now building two giant airships, of which the first is expected to start carrying passengers between England and New York next April.

The fare will be $500, on an airship 700 feet long, 130 feet high, with six engines, totaling 4,200-horsepower, traveling seventy-five miles an hour.

Starting modestly the airship will cross from London to New York in forty-eight hours. The passengers will dance on the way on one of the three decks in a magnificent salon 110 feet wide.

That's what you might call AN AIRSHIP for a starter. Luckily England, with all her after-the-war troubles and heavy debts, has a Government able to realize that the air is the new ocean, and has resolved that Britannia shall rule the air waves as it used to rule the other kind.

One American has booked the first passage on this boat, from London to New York. That's some slight comfort. Our citizens are lost, even if our Government is slow.

Cracked Ice and Ginger Ale Emerge Spotless From a Recent Tempest in a Tall Glass

The innocent often suffer along with the guilty. Never was this more true than in the recent tempest in a tall glass which involved Good Cracked Ice and that other spotless character, Ginger Ale.

Prohibition enforcement agents in Boston, and before that, in Chicago, hot on the trail of the Demon Rum in hotels, cafes and restaurants, wrought an injustice to cracked ice and ginger ale. They created the impression in the minds of some persons that these thirst quenchers were in reality agents of the Evil One.

But the courts have held that cracked ice and ginger ale, jointly and severally, and as long as they keep out of bad company, are pure as crystal. A Chicago decision, for instance, does not say that it is unlawful for a restaurant-keeper to serve any cracked ice and ginger ale that guests may order. What it does say is that the habitual bringing and consuming of liquor in a restaurant makes the restaurant a common nuisance. The innocent and spotless reputations of cracked ice and ginger ale thus remain intact.

Many a man has quenched his thirst and indulged his immortal soul with nothing stronger than ginger ale. There is no reason now, and never has been, why he should not walk into any one of a thousand places, without fear and without reproach, and order this fine temperance beverage.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

LIFE moves!

You must move with it if you would be healthy.

There's no stopping place. You must go on and on, rising and rising, from level to level, changing all the time, making new adjustments.

"Growth-stages," Professor H. A. Overstreet calls them in his new book, "ABOUT OURSELVES." There's a sensible, friendly book which will tell you amazing things about yourself in the simplest way.

"Healthy human life goes by growth-stages," says Professor Overstreet. "For a few months or a few years the individual lives on a level where the functioning is very much of the same kind. Then it becomes necessary for him to move on to climb to another level and then to another. AN INDIVIDUAL FAILS WHENEVER AT THE NORMAL TIME AND UNDER NORMAL CIRCUMSTANCES, HE REFUSES OR IS UNABLE TO MAKE THE NECESSARY MOVEMENT FORWARD. HE IS THEN SAID TO REMAIN FIXATED."

"An individual fails when he won't move on—that's a new thought, isn't it? You've always thought that a successful life would finally reach a place where it no longer needed to struggle or worry, where all was safe and sure, where uncomfortable changes were no longer necessary. You were taught that as a child. All your life you have tried to reach that goal. All your life you've drooled and resented anything which made life difficult and uncertain and painful. You wanted to "settle down and take things easy."

But healthy life never settles down and takes things easy. AND THE MAN WHO DOES SETTLE DOWN IN ONE ATTITUDE AND REFUSES TO MOVE ON GOES BAD ON HIMSELF.

You must move on! You must put the past away. You must step out of the present into the future!

It matters not how sweet the past was, how filled with love or success or contentment—you must leave it and go on into new fields or your life will stagnate.

Remember Lot's wife. Sodom was burning and Lot had been warned to flee without a backward glance. But Lot's wife yearned for her own home, and, looking back, she was turned to a pillar of salt, WHICH WAS THE OLD POETICAL WAY OF SAYING THAT LOT'S WIFE HAD A FIXATION.

Everywhere you see warm human spirits suddenly becoming stationary, changing into "pillars of salt"—becoming fixed.

The timid, unhappy people who can't seem to emerge from adolescence into maturity—who cling to the moods and attitudes of childhood and cannot face adult adaptations and responsibilities.

The silly people who are enamoured with the ferment of youth. The balf-headed man who insists on "staying collegiate," who think and talk and act like rah-rah boys—the pitiful women over forty who try to retain the thrills and romance of sixteen—

The tragic people who become "fixed" by some experiences of grief or remorse which they cannot surmount—whose spirits will not go forward but sit grimly to the grave of sooo dead dream—

Failures all of them, because they will not MOVE ON.

Don't let yourself become fixed in any period of your development. Move on through the years. Move on through the experiences. Move in and out among people. Do what makes you move, even though it may seem to tear your heart in two.

ENDURANCE IS REAL TEST OF MAN

By DR. FRANK CRANE

IMPORTANCE depends on endurance. Endurance is the retention through time of an achievement of value. Thus says Whitehead in Science and the Modern World.

Endurance is the real test of a man. It is something that we can all have. If we can do nothing else we can hang on and remain the same.

Sometimes this is mere pigheadedness and stubbornness. But in this world of fluctuating values and fluctuating men it is a pleasure to find something stable.

One of the strongest pleas of the Roman Catholic church is that it has endured throughout the ages and is still going strong.

Whatever has endured for a length of time must have some merit to it.

The life of an organism depends upon its ability to adjust itself to its surroundings. Life is a tragedy for the unfit.

A man is in perfect health when he can breathe the air, enjoy the sunshine and partake of the food that is offered him, and his lungs, his stomach and his other organs are attuned to his environment.

If they become out of tune or, in other words, he becomes unfit, nature eliminates him.

Emerson says that the best test of a book and the finest critic was time, and advised us, as a whole, to read no book that had not been printed twenty years.

Time has dealt harshly with some popular favorites, while others have survived.

Some of the popular songs our ancestors sang are still popular. No one could tell at the time which they were, but the passing of the years has tested them.

It is perhaps a wise thing not to build a monument to a man before he is dead. Time must have its opportunity to pass upon him.

There is something in mere endurance, and the man who is able to stick a thing out to the bitter end has the advantage over one who is constantly changing.

Do not stick to a thing simply because you have chosen it, but after choosing it wisely keep your feet firm and do not vacillate.

Boston DAY by DAY

ALBERT F. HEGENBERGER, famous Pacific flier, tells how he uses airplanes to attend banquets. The annual alumni banquet of Massachusetts Institute of Technology was scheduled for last Saturday. Friday found Hegenberger still in the Middle West and with business to attend to in Washington. Late Friday he hopped off, went to Washington and transacted his affairs. Then he hopped for Boston, arriving here in time for the banquet, although he had to appear in uniform.

Hegenberger, who is a former South Boston man and a lieutenant, had the distinction of speaking before Secretary of War Dwight Davis.

Out of twenty Rotary clubs having a membership of 500 or more, Boston led the November meetings with an average attendance of 96.23 for each meeting. The live, up and coming, peppy city of New York is at the bottom of the list, with Chicago, Philadelphia and San Francisco scattered through the list. Boston Rotary, with President Alfred H. Marchant and the other members responsible, is to be congratulated.

When Harold McNamee went to work in the advertising world he probably thought he was through with school. Last Fall, when Northeastern University decided it needed an expert to teach business advertising, McNamee was picked out of a group of available candidates because his experience and character made him extremely desirable. His first course was a series of lectures on advertising principles. This semester it is "advertising campaigns."

"Professor" McNamee still has enough of the adventuresome spirit of college students to go out playing golf in January.

Last May Captain Charles T. Sanipro of the State Police hung up a large map of Massachusetts. Since then every accident which the State Police have investigated has been marked by a colored flag on the map. To date more than 600 flags are pinned thereon. The Newburyport Turnpike is thick with them from end to end.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

ONE day I heard a little singing child
Whose voice was clear and sweet;
Above her head the cloudless azure smiled,
The clovers kissed her feet.

She sang because she shared the linnet's bliss,
And knew the sun's delight,
She revelled in the breezes' passing kiss
Upon the clovers white.

She sang because her playmates gathered there
To hear her lilting notes,
She sang because she knew the lovely air
That soars from skylarks' throats.

She carolled gaily, one with song and sun
And every joy around,
As from her little happy throat she spun
A web of merry sound.
